DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 5-7, 12-16 and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sun, US 20040160532.

In considering claims 1 and 15,

a) the claimed a display unit... is met by display 218 (Fig 2)

b) the claimed a storage unit... is met by memory 306 which may be removeable (para 26-27). The temporary store is met where the storage may store the data as short/long based upon user's desires/systems needs, thus anticipating the limitation.

c) the claimed a read/write unit... is met where the removable storage medium can be used to import frame into FMU 212 (para 26), wherein the removeable memory and FMU are external to each other.

Art Unit: 2622

d) the claimed a display control unit...is met by CPU 222 (Fig 2).

It is also noted that any conventional display (i.e cited by applicant JP8-237592) in combination with a notoriously well known VCR will also read on the above claims.

In considering claims 5-7 and 16,

Sun discloses that the storage/memory unit compresses the information prior to storage (Fig 3) wherein the user may display a selected frame at a time.

In considering claims 12 and 19,

Sun discloses that the FMU unit 212 which is able to write-protect, write-enable, or erase in response to storage control signals via remote control signals (para 37).

In considering claims 13-14 and 20,

Sun discloses a system which allows a user to view programs in original non-redisplay mode and also in re-display mode based upon users desires/selection in redisplaying a scenes/frames.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2 The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4, 8-11 and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sun, US 20040160532.

In considering claim 2,

Art Unit: 2622

Sun does not explicitly disclose a storage medium that may be rewritten with data a fewer number of times than the storage unit---however this is conventional copyright techniques, thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" as stated in claim 10 below.

In considering claim 3,

Sun discloses that one of the two memories may be detachable and thus the implementation of detaching the other memory is obviously an option available to a system/designer based of course on the type of apparatus/size/memory portability requirements, thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding as such.

In considering claim 4,

Sun does not disclose the concept of "free storage capacity" but obviously when writing/reading data from a memory especially in the video endeavor adequate storage space for such reservation recording/viewing is conventional practice in the art to provide the user the ability/notice of such space, thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding such.

In considering claims 8-9,

Sun does not explicitly recite the prohibit limitation in reading/writing data to a memory. However, since Sun discloses the concept of allowing a user to store data for redisplay, the concept of allowing a memory to store what the user desires as opposed to storing data not desired for redisplay would be an obvious implementation, and since these are conventional techniques in capturing/reading/writing video data for later display the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding such.

In considering claims 10-11 and 17-18,

Sun does not explicitly recite a communication method based on a prescribed copyright protection technique, however these are conventional techniques which may be practiced in a system in order to maintain the integrity/security of such data, thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding as such.
